Reflections of Mona Shores

I often think that a school's like a wave

Carrying young people to a shore.

A shore of adventure.

A shore of work.

A shore of the world and its people.

Each student steps from wave to wave until,

he reaches that shore.

It brings him to the edge

and gently places him,

upon the shore.

Once upon the shore

he must find a place suited for himself.

Alone.

A school not only carries the student to this shore, but also inspires in the student the ability and desire to compete for a place upon the shore.

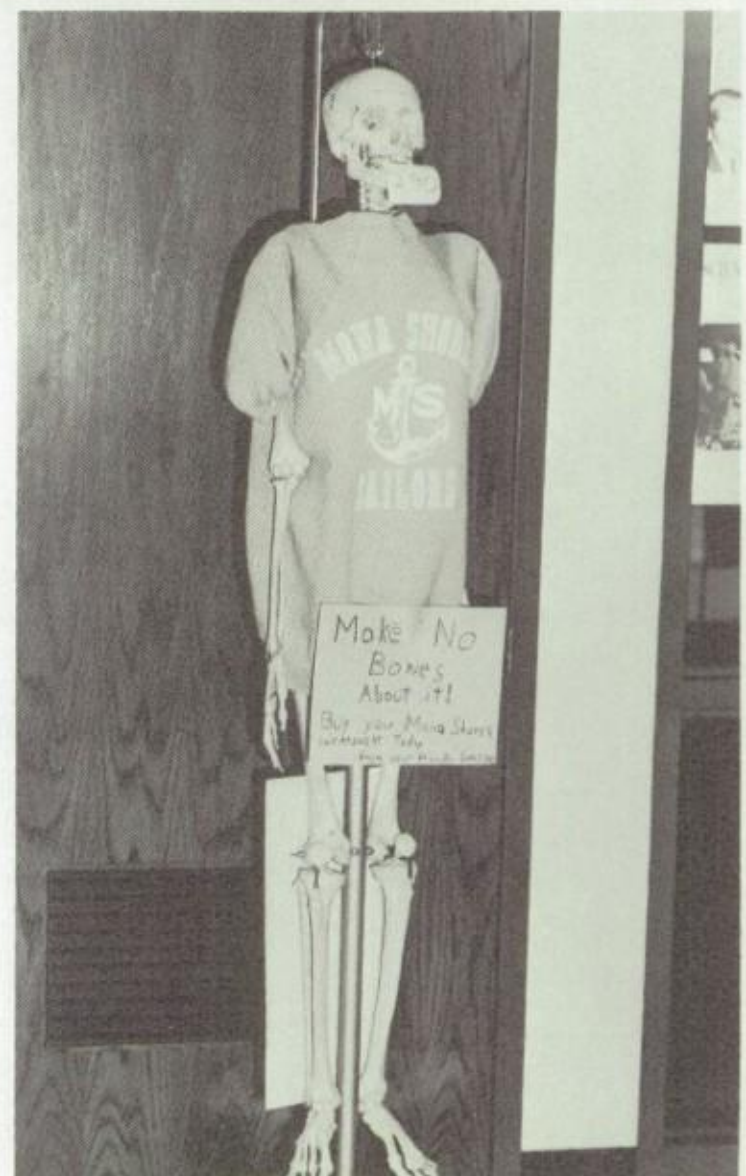

This is why the construction of a new school is looked upon with pride. It not only means a new building and equipment, but also the construction of fresh young minds and bodies to meet the challenge of our world today.

Cheryl,
 To A neat
 Cousin with
 A swell Personality,
 Stay Good And Remember
 Tom (ado for her)

In school there are series of waves combining to form the final waves which carry a person into the workaday world.

Clubs form one of these waves. In clubs people learn how to work with others and accept responsibilities.

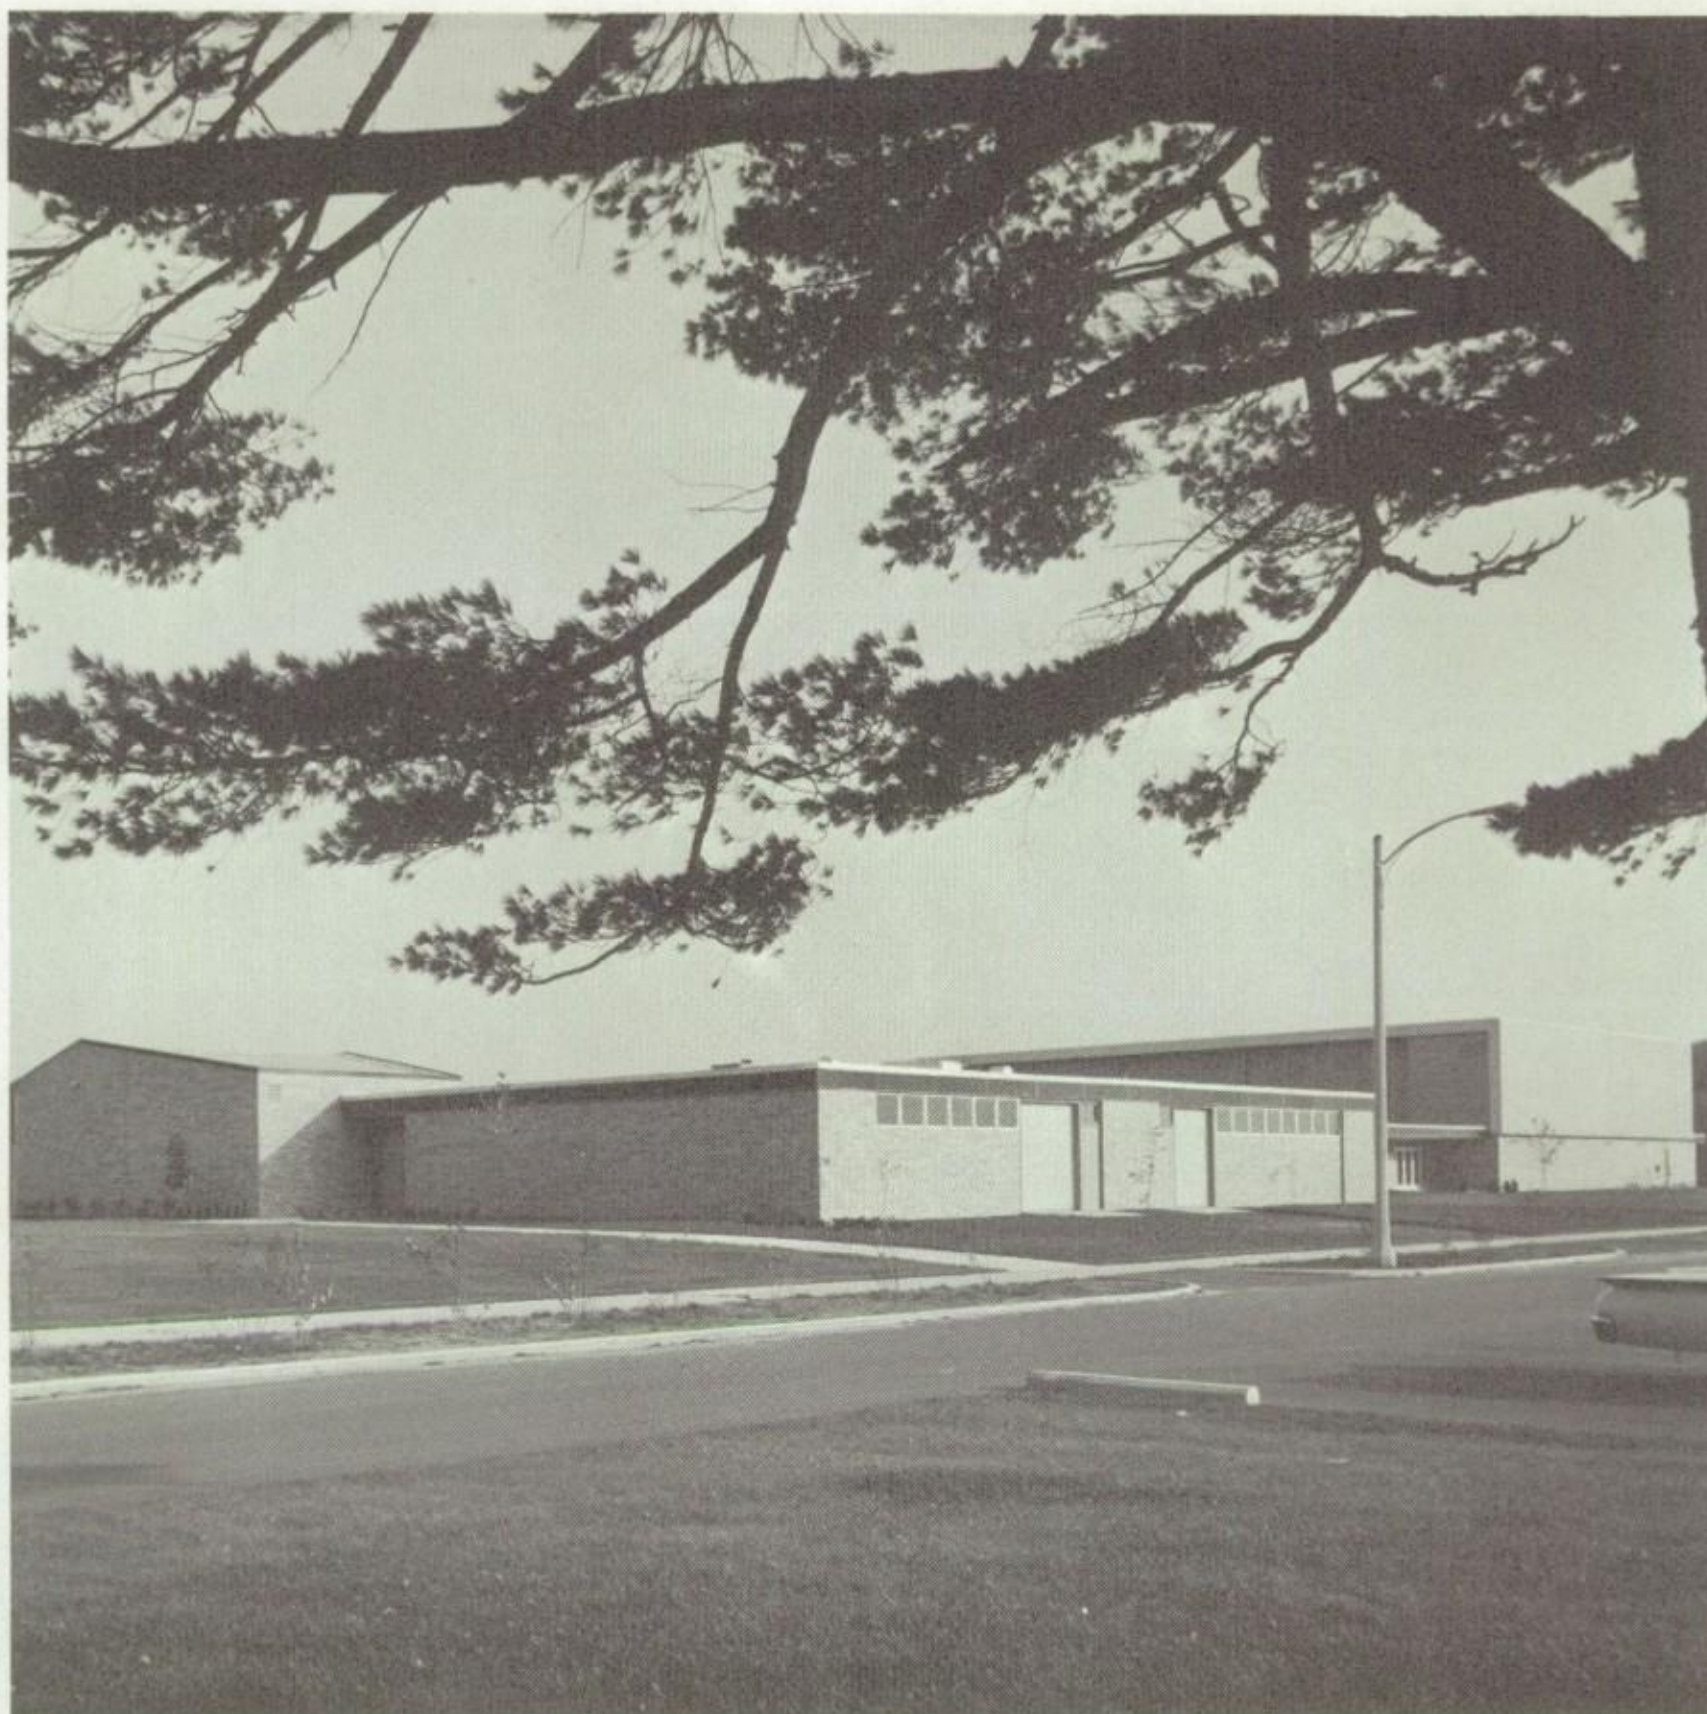

A wave of excitement.

A wave of spirit surges through students at school activities.

These waves swell and fill the whole person with joy.

A completed school with all of its units functioning is an effective school. It is one that carries out all of its responsibilities. It is one which aids in supplying the future citizens of our world.

This year our school is complete. Some students are ready to disembark upon the shores of the world, to leave their footprints for others to follow. This year is truly one of which our school can be very proud. . .

Letter from the Editor

This year the theme that the yearbook staff chose for the '64-'65 volume of the Compass Points was "Progress." The reason that we chose this theme was that this year Mona Shores will witness the first graduation of a class. This marks a stepping stone not only in the lives of the graduating seniors, but also in the progress of Mona Shores High School. Tradition in these first three years has grown through hard work, and it is through hard work that the students at Mona Shores have grown, too. This is why the theme of "Progress" is so fitting for the third volume of the Compass Points because it not only depicts the lives of the students, but also the school that we all enjoy so much and receive so much from.

The Compass Points Staff has worked hard to make this the best yearbook they can. This year there have been many changes: more pictures, more pages, an embossed cover, a larger page size, and a different type of paper. We hope that you like the changes that mark the progress of the '64-'65 Compass Points Staff.

May you never falter in anything you set out to do, but always progress in every way; never going backward, but always forward.

Yours truly,
Mary Briggs
Editor

MR. ERIC WARDEN, as adviser to Compass Points, has been a great help. He will probably need a vacation like the rest of the staff after the final deadline. The staff would all like to extend to Mr. Warden a very hearty "thanks."

SHERRY McCULLY has worked long, patient hours in describing the academics of Mona Shores. Academics is the reason the school exists, and Sherry's untiring efforts have given a picture of the school that will last for years.

DOUG WOOD mastered the trying art of selecting and cropping literally hundreds of photos to bring the activities section of the book to life. Doug's task wasn't enviable, but we think this year's section is a good job.

PAM BAETZEL, organizations editor, pored over lists of thousands of names of students in MS organizations. When she was hospitalized, MARC BRISTOL, a fine beginning journalist, took over her duties admirably well, the staff agreed.

To Bring You This Yearbook. . .

MARCIA MAYETTE's fine talent as an artist is exemplified in the cover and divider pages of this year's COMPASS POINTS. This striking design won compliments from yearbook company representatives even before the book was bound between covers.

BRAD ALLARD became the third redheaded editor of this book during the second semester, assuming duties of previous sports editor CARL FRY. Brad's work indicates that this sophomore is someone to watch for fine results in future COMPASS POINTS.

GALE THOMPSON's duties were to plan the senior photo pages and the senior index, which were not easy tasks to complete. Gale's job kept her working far into the night during the last few days of the deadlines for this edition of COMPASS POINTS.

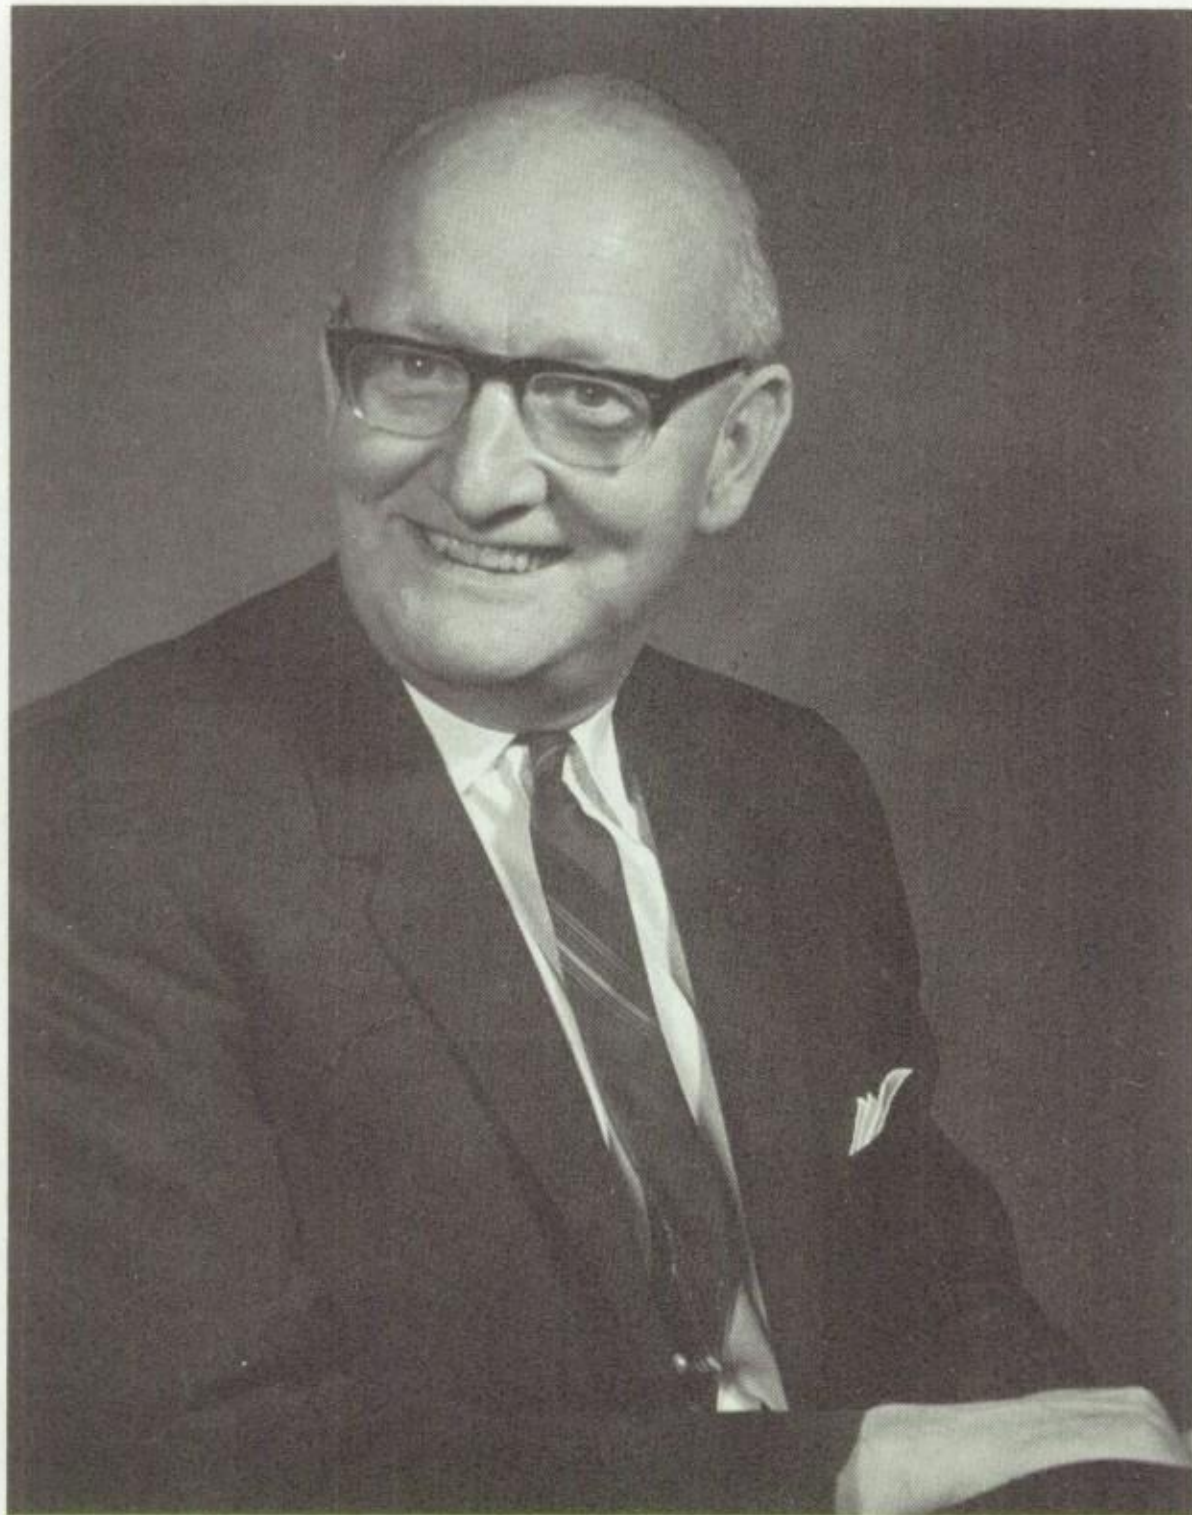

KATHY DOBB's job was preparation of the advertising section of this book. Working closely with the publications business staff to produce an accurate, artistic product was Kathy's chief concern during this book's production.

BEVERLY BIGELOW was handed 1100 underclassmen's pictures to arrange—and after that had to plan the yearbook index as well. Beverly really knew her alphabet when she was done—and she further developed her even disposition, patience, and skills.

M.S. Proudly Dedicates Compass Points to

This year the Compass Points Staff is proud to dedicate the 1964-65 volume to Mr. William Luyendyk, superintendent of the Mona Shores School system. It has been through his leadership and wisdom that Mona Shores has progressed as rapidly as it has. Although there have been ups and downs as there are in every school system, M.S. has come through with flying colors. Much of this we owe to Mr. Luyendyk, and this is why we are proud to dedicate this year's annual to him.

MS Students Are Congratulated

The students and faculty at Mona Shores are again to be congratulated for a year well done. When I came here to fill the assistant principal's role I was very much aware that my success depended upon the support I would receive from you. My two years here have been most happy ones and to you I must give much of the credit. With the sincere approach that you have demonstrated in the learning process yours will be a model well worth following.

To the senior class my sincere thanks and best wishes; yours has been a difficult role and yet you have handled it with true "sailorship." The "shakedown cruise" has proven that Mona Shores is a truly "seaworthy" ship. However, a ship can only respond to those who plot her course, maintain her ballast and direct her forever onward. The Sailor alumni can look proudly upon the future generations who will sail here, for you have built a reputation which we can proudly maintain.

Glen J. Brown

I would like to commend our first graduating class, the class of '65, for their "pioneering" spirit and willingness to accept responsibility for leadership. This fine example has set a pattern for other classes to follow. Although this year's commencement is sure to bring many voids in our school, I have every confidence those classes remaining will accept the challenge and continue the work begun.

In generalizing about a class, let us not forget that each class is composed of individuals, and for every individual one question is basic: What do we do with what we have? Because it's not what we have, but what we do with what we have that counts.

Mrs. Clara Kolberg, Mrs. Karen Wolterink, Mrs. Norma Beauleaux, and Mrs. Hazel Leiter all are responsible for a well-run office.

Clerks and Secretaries Are a Must

Can you imagine what would happen if the Mona Shores office was without any of its clerks or secretaries? There would be so much confusion that we wouldn't know which way to turn. Our classes would be mixed to the point that we would have classes we never signed up for.

The clerks and secretaries take care of such jobs as correspondence, absences, the telephone, announcements, bookstore, visitors, and many kinds of records.

A $200 human skeleton, an autoclave, and a large pressure cleaner are among the new equipment received for the science department. This equipment has greatly advanced the department's work.

The teaching methods include laboratory work and textbooks. In the lab, work is carried on anywhere from experimenting with acids and bases to dissecting a premature pig.

The teachers are Mr. Harlan Suffield, Mr. John Fleming, Mrs. Patricia Orcutt, Mr. Roger Tharp, Mr. Ralph Weiss, and Mr. Edward Wilson.

The work being done in this department is very important because of the ever larger demand for people working in this field.

Students Paul Betts and Gail Gillaspie are making use of just a few of the 5500 books in our library. The library was an especially popular place when marking periods ended.

With approximately 5,500 books, the library got off to a smashing start this year.

The Mona Shores library had a round figure of 4,000 books as of November 2, 1964, plus about 700 books being processed. By June the librarians hope to have about 6,500 books. As one student said, "The library is now becoming adequate for the students' needs."

This year the librarians have a different system. They have a new member, Mrs. Helen Daniels. She does the floor work such as aiding the students when they are in need of an answer and helping them find research material. Miss Rexanne Beaumont does the carding and processing of books. Mrs. Marjorie Essenberg does a variety of jobs such as checking out books and filing check out cards.

It is our continued desire to build good citizenship, to provide the knowledge, skill, values and attitudes needed for active and responsible citizenship in our local, state, national and world communities," stated Mr. Jack Cooper.

New teachers to the department this year are Mr. Donald Opalek, Mr. Roy Burch, Mr. Jacob Funkhouser, and Mr. Matt Tomasiewicz. Returning were Mr. Gerald Fitzpatrick, Mr. Robert Driscoll, Mr. Jack Cooper, Mr. Gary Hardin, Mr. Howard Clark, and Mr. Wallace Ross.

Mr. Ross stated, "The Social Studies department at Mona Shores is designed to give each student a comprehensive program to help him better understand the economic, social, political, and historical forces shaping the world and community he lives in."

Industrial Arts Wants To Expand

Working in wood shop requires a sense of designing and lots of patience.

"We would like to expand the Industrial Arts Department. It is only in its first stages right now," says Mr. John Partenio, temporary chairman of the Industrial Arts Department.

This department has three different kinds of classes: woodworking, mechanical drawing, and metals, with eleven courses in all. Mr. Partenio says some students have mentioned auto mechanics.

A new saw in woodworking is one of the expansions of the department. A new teacher was added because Mr. Herman Stephens became a counselor.

The boys make projects in metal and woodworking. They learn the methods in using tools and the safe operation of machinery. Special perception and visualization of objects is learned in mechanical drawing. Mr. Daniel Hamilton and Mr. John Spring are the other two teachers in the department.

Two Years Required

The physical education program was established at Mona Shores for two reason: first to develop in every way the student, and secondly to give him experience in as many varied situations as possible. The program strives to make the student physically fit and develop his skills to the most of his ability.

This is accomplished through first and second year boys and girls physical education classes as well as advanced physical education classes. There are two years of physical education required of every MS students to insure the success of the program.

According to Mr. Carl Anderson "We try to give the fellows experience in as many activities as the time allotted. The spirit of competition is always present to insure the fellows putting out their best."

The teachers in this department are Mr. Carl Anderson and Miss Joan Board. Miss Charlene Eisenlohr teaches the girls' advanced program, "In the first year for advanced physical education this class has proven very worthwhile for girl with advanced skill or those who would like to go into the physical education field."

Gain Appreciation of Fine Arts

The Fine Arts Department's main objective is to help the students gain an appreciation of the importance and the function of the fine arts in our everyday lives.

The vocal and instrumental parts participate in concerts, assemblies, festivals, and various other activities in the school. They help build the students' skills in singing and in playing various instruments. Both departments plan on making records this year. The finances from the vocal project will be used to help send students to Interlochen this summer. The funds from the band record will be used to finance the various functions participated in by the band. Mr. John Butterfield heads the instrumental part, while Mr. Lawrence Gray heads the vocal part.

The art section, under Mrs. GeorgeAnna Joseph, includes leather crafts, ceramics, drawings, copper enameling, and plastic sculpturing.

The courses are Art I, II; Advanced Art; A Cappella Choir; Chorus; Concert Band; Symphonic Band; and Music Appreciation I, II.

Hard practice is required for band, choir, and art.

The explosive development of mathematical ideas and their practical applications have completely changed the pattern of career open to mathematicians. Mathematically talented youths are being eagerly sought to fill many new and interesting jobs in business, industry, and government," stated Mr. Donald Dezelsky.

The goal of the department is to develop the ability to think clearly and precisely, to develop an understanding of and an application for those ideas associated with mathematics.

The "Socratic" method of teaching is used by the mathematics department.

There are three teachers new to MSHS in the department this year. Many books were received this year to give the students better information material on mathematics.

English Is a Must in Society

"In the complex society in which we live, each person needs to possess the ability to think critically and to communicate his thoughts in an appropriate manner. Almost every activity in a student's everyday life requires him to use some of the skills that he has acquired in his English classes. Therefore, English is vitally important to any pupil who wishes to become an intelligent, functioning member of society." This is the important part of everyday life that is played by English as stated by Mr. John Halloran. Mr. Halloran teaches English and is temporary chairman of the English Department at MS.

To develop the language abilities as far as possible, and encourage the acquisition of skills necessary for an understanding and enjoyment of literature among students are the main goals of the English Department.

No special method of teaching is used in the department. The method of teaching in any single classroom depends upon the personality of the teacher and the various interests of the students. One accessory is the audio-visual aids in English.

Typing requires muscular co-ordination and lots of hard practice.

Mona Shores business department has grown by leaps and bounds since the school opened three years ago. This year the department has five teachers: Mr. Howard Clark, Mr. LeRoy Hoyt, Mr. Charles Lafayette, Mr. Don Mosley, and Mrs. Simia Robinson. The department offers courses taken by both college prep and general students.

Students who plan on working right after high school appreciate this department because it makes it possible to get a better job.

Secretarial experience and business administration are the two distinct divisions of study.

The subjects offered by the department are General Business; Typing I, IA, II; Business Math; Shorthand I, II; Accounting; Office Practice; Salesmanship-Advertising; Small Business Problems-Business Law; and Business Management-Retailing.

A, L, and M, Method Used

Learning foriegn languages is a lot easier in the booths.

“Oui” and “Si”, are two of the common sounds practiced in the Mona Shores Language laboratory. French, Latin and Spanish are taught. French and Spanish are being taught by the A, L, and M method. In this method the language “issues from the mouths of speakers.” These speakers are situated in separate booths. Mrs. Alice Gentner stated, “Latin isn’t a conversational language, therefore, the reading method is much more effective.”

Mona Shores students, after taking one of these languages, should have a better knowledge of the people and country involved.

The courses offered include Latin I, II, III, IV; Spanish I, II, III, IV; and French I, II, III, IV.

The teachers are Miss Joan Desarmeaux, Mrs. Alice Gentner, Mr. William Merdzinski and Mr. Thomas Shofner.

Individual Instruction Received

Mr. Conrad teaches one of the special education classes at Mona Shores.

Each student is given individual instruction at his own level of learning in the special education department. This individual instruction is made possible by the fact that there are seventeen students and two teachers.

The subjects taught in the special education department are English, mathematics, science, American government, guidance, and career planning. Besides these the students may also take metal shop, wood shop, typing, home economics, gym and library. The students also do a great deal of helping in the kitchen and the custodial work of the school.

The students also decorate their room with the help of the teachers, Mr. Bernard Conrad and Mrs. Janet Fortenbacher.

The special education department helps the students find a better place in the working world.

Counselors Remove Obstructions

Ken Beroza and Jackie Scholle look through the college references in the counseling office.

"Our counselors do whatever they can to help remove obstructions from students' educational paths in the best way possible. One example of this is our testing program, by which we help a student identify his abilities and achievements. We also provide occupational and advanced education information, as well as give assistance in other problems that affect the educational development of the Mona Shores students," stated Miss Charlene Eisenlohr about the work of the counselors. The counselors give the students aid in social, academic, and personal problems. They use two methods, direct and indirect.

The counselors include Mr. Herman Stephens, Mr. Carl Mansfield, Miss Charlene Eisenlohr, Mr. Rex Bean, Mrs. Catherine Pierre, and Mr. William Putnam. Mr. James Becker was in the counseling department until the end of the first semester, when he left to assume a position at Northern Michigan University.

The musical talent of Dave Zanolokin seems to be very enjoyable (we hope) to Darlene Kurant and Kathy Fors.

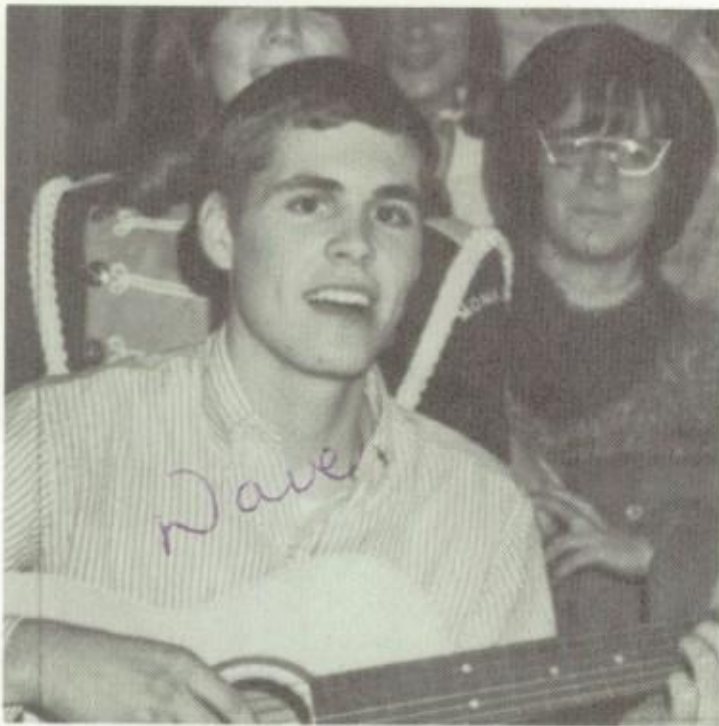

Shirley Hodges, Carol Johnson, and Karen Cassidy pass sleepy hours on the way from Benton Harbor.

The trio of Gail Gillaspy, Claudette Bright, and Kay Holman lead the Sailors on at a pep assembly.

Excitement and Relaxation

One, Two, Three, Four, Oh Ya... Dave Zatolokin can't beat the Beatles' time but he sure can give the girls a singing thrill.

Hail, Hail, The gang's all here... Everybody seems to be here at the excursion, almost everybody that is.

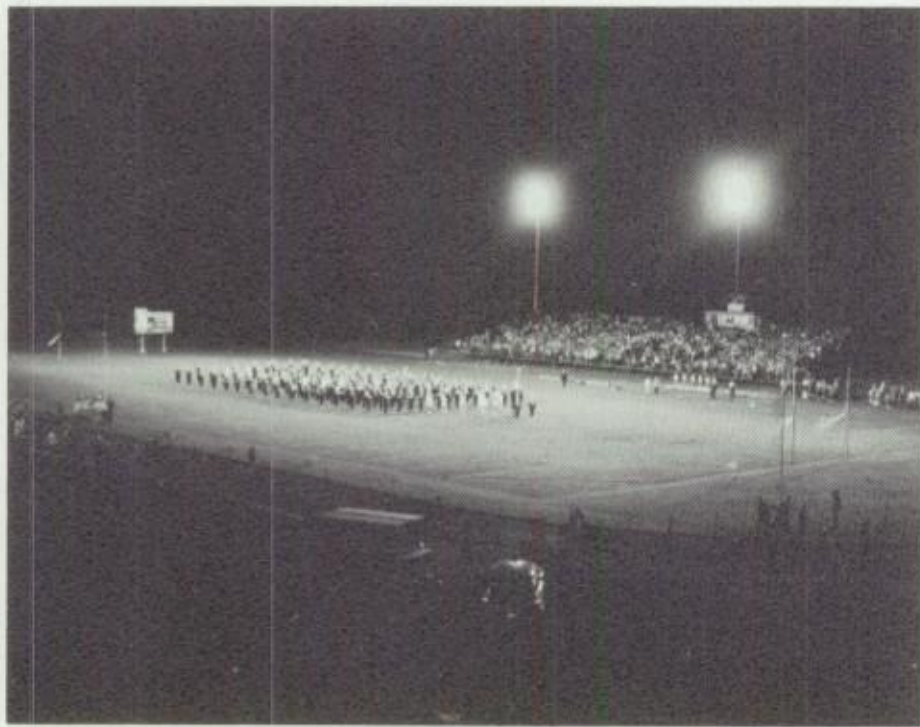

Mona Shores High School's first Anchor Day come to be when Brenda Lynch and Bob Lytle were seated as King and Queen.

To have fun there must be planning and work done. Shown is Bill Hermanson working with his slaving committee.

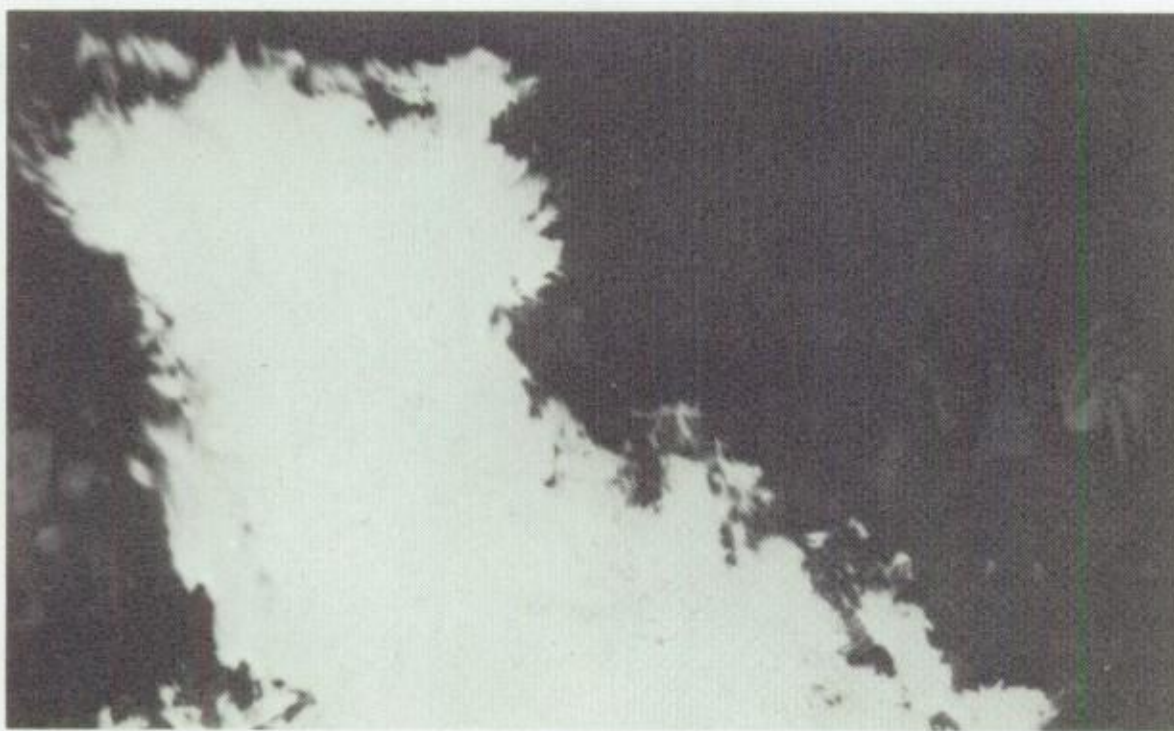

All Are A Part of M.S. Life

"Don't get too close; your contacts will melt," was some of the talk at the huge bonfire pep rally before the game with hundreds of cheering M.S. students. The victory salute ended in a puff of smoke.

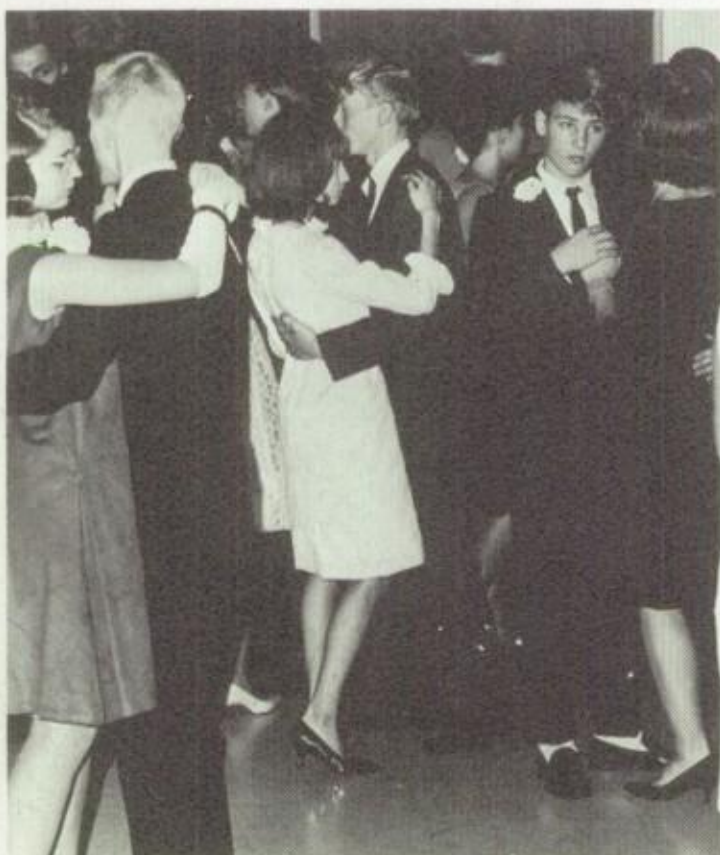

Two Semiformals Add a Little Spice

The Christmas Formal, now just a memory, saw 350 couples brave the cold weather to turn out for a wonderful time we won't forget.

Hostesses Pat Kimball and Pam Fox, Hosts John Bandoek and Dick Ulbrich are pouring punch for their guests at a pre-prom punch party.

Symptoms of a good dance: sore feet, lighter wallet, lots of laughs, and last but not least a good night. . . This year's dance was sponsored by F.H.A.

A good time was had by all on the excursion to Benton Harbor. In this picture we have Rod Buehrle, Dennis Corpe, and Lanny Sperry having some snacks. The boys want to be ready so they can be the first off the train.

Linda Bright and Bill Fox seem to be having fun on the train. Supposedly, Bill is trying to explain the fundamentals of football to Linda as the train comes closer to Benton Harbor. Linda, on the other hand, still sees the game as Greek to her, as she takes another handfull of popcorn.

What, a bomb scare? Not possible here at Mona Shores? Yes, but it is true. On two calm days it happened: Students had just settled in their classes when alarms went off. The first scare lasted for one hour and the students stayed until 4 o'clock. These students are listening to Mr. William Luyendyk give a talk on student conduct during the second bomb scare.

What could be more interesting than the first freshman game? It is considered a lot to talk about by a group of students. Here discussing the contest are Janet Tyler, Cindy Howard, Barb Richardson and Malory Lennox with other students looking on and giving their comments and opinion. These students know what to do with their time at school.

The 1965 freshmen cheerleaders—Back row: Karen Sirianni, Karen Griesback; Front row: Micki Servis and Barb Stibitz—jump high with enthusiasm in the freshman basketball game and for their estimation that the freshmen are the best in the whole school. These cheerleaders work hard at getting new cheers and on giving the players encouragement that will get them to play a better game.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Mona Shores Students See Europe

This summer three Mona Shores Seniors participated in the Youth For Understanding program and spent their carefree summer days in a unique learning experience in Europe. The three seniors pictured above are Rondi George, John Hunter, and Lenore Fonstein.

Our Friends from Foreign Lands

The exchange students Gisela Schotten, Marcello Legorreta, Irma Den Hertog, Asa Liljestrand, and Kathy Madsen speak at the Christmas assembly in the gym.

Our Friends from Europe

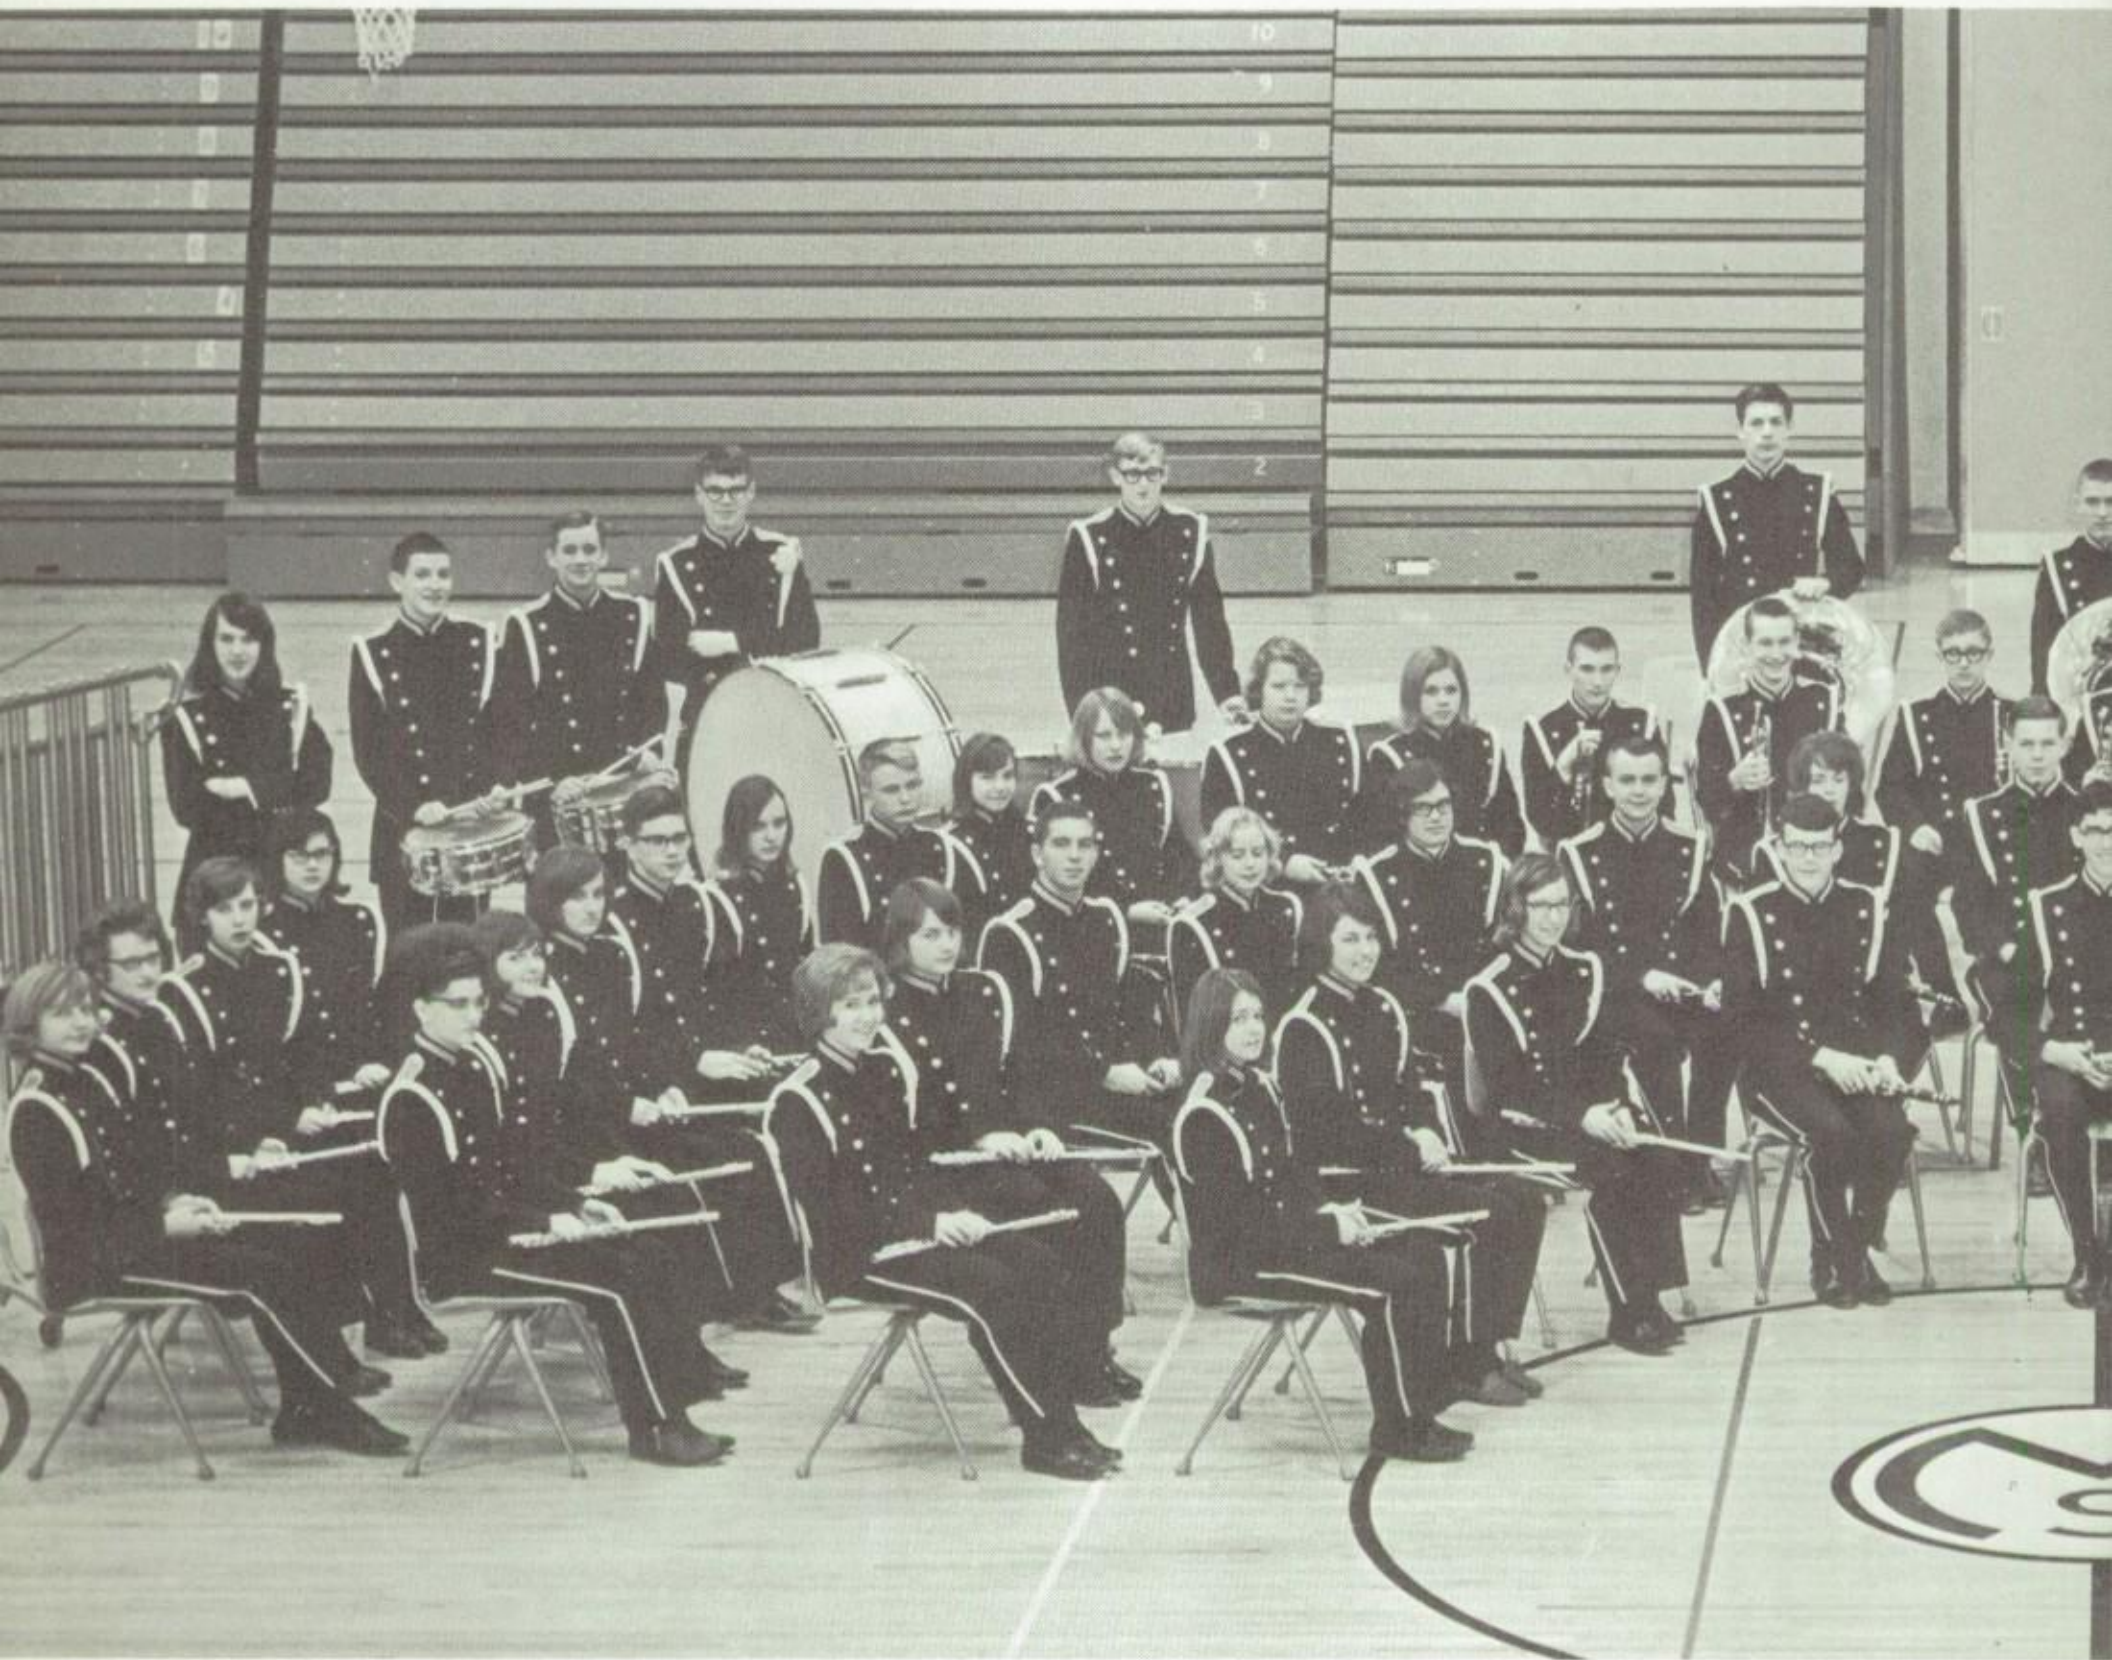

Mona Shores was the host to four exchange students this year. The three shown above are Åsa Liljestrang, Kathy Madsen, and Gisela Schotten. The fourth student, not shown, is Irma der Hertog. Åsa is a senior from Lidings, Sweden, which is near Stockholm. She stayed with senior Rondi George. Åsa participated in the Choir, the Ski Club, and the Thespian production "Our Town." Kathy Madsen, also a senior, hails from Hanover, Germany. Kathy stayed with junior Janet Reid. Her special interests include: reading, art, and languages. She has studied English, French, Latin, and Russian in addition to her native German. Berlin is home to Gisela Schotten but her home away from home for the first semester was with Linda Lewis, an MS junior. During November, Irma der Hertog from Gouda, Netherlands, arrived at Mona Shores and stayed with junior Bob Kinzinger. Irma is a 17 year old who likes chop suey and dislikes TV commercials.

The students from Mona Shores enjoyed them all very much and wish them all the success in the world when they return to their respective countries.

During the 1964-65 school year the A Cappella Choir consisted of 58 members—all sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The choir performed at their own school concerts and for other organizations in the Muskegon area. A special concert in the spring was held on a Sunday night and featured sacred music. The highlight of the year was a tour to the Flint area. The choir members left on the morning of April 12 and headed southward. In the next two days the choir performed at four high school assemblies. Last year the choir received a straight one rating at the district festival. This year Mr. Gray feels that the choir will do as well with their required number, "Christ and the Passover."

“Bye-Bye, Birdie”

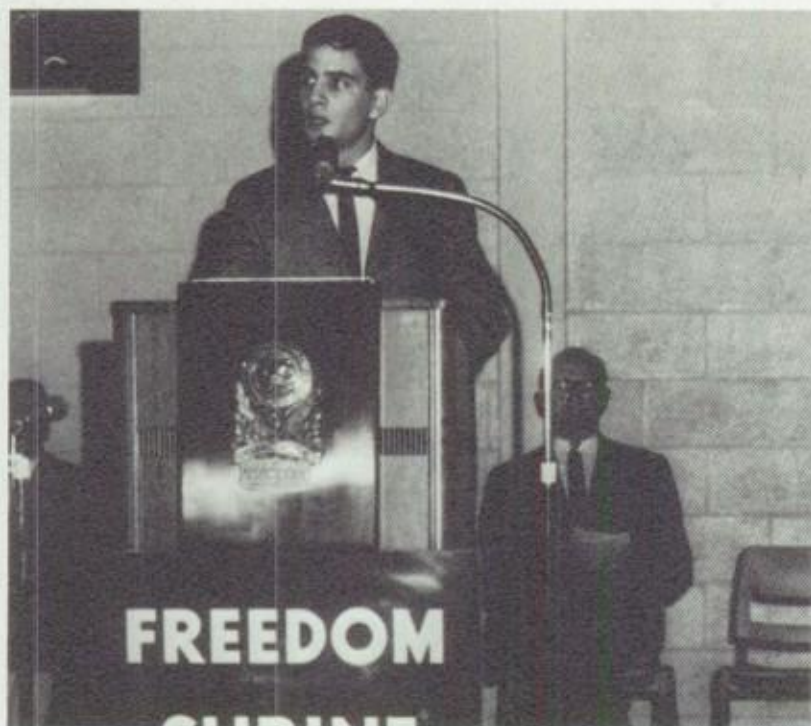

First Musical Hit

“Bye-Bye, Birdie,” presented in spring of 1964, was the first musical produced at Mona Shores. It included an all-school cast of singers, dancers, musicians, and technicians and also several teachers. “Bye-Bye, Birdie” ran five nights, May 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, with sellout crowds each night.

NFL Members Win Honors

In addition to many other achievements this year, the Mona Shores NFL members were granted a charter as an official branch of the National Forensic League. Mona Shores is one of only three schools in the state of Michigan holding this honor and it was achieved entirely upon our team's record. When Mr. Edwardsen first applied he was told to forget it because he was virtually impossible for a school as new as Mona Shores to get a charter. Undaunted Mr. Edwardsen compiled a documentary of MS debate activities including pictures, newspaper stories, etc. This he sent along with a charter application to the people responsible for granting NFL charters. The result of the impression, thus made is to be seen on the wall in room 108.

Senior Girls Organized

This year at MS Senior Girls was organized. Although the club was not extremely active, many plans were made. Responsible for the organization were advisers Mrs. Joseph and Mrs. Fortenbacher; and Janice Sicard, president. The plans made so far are for a dance, attendance at plays, and a visit to art museums. The goal of the club is to encourage cultural development in high school girls.

The Mona Shores Thespians kept busy this year with the production of "Our Town" and the Talent Show. Also included in this year's activities were a few field trips.

"Our Town" was presented on the nights of November 20 and 21. The weather kept some customers away but, nevertheless, the actors and actresses did a great job of putting across Thornton Wilder's theme. Steve Alberty, Sue Morris, John Whitworth, and several others starred in "Our Town."

During the course of the year the Thespians watched a Michigan State football game, "The Merchant of Venice," and visited a drama clinic at Michigan State.

A final production was planned for spring and was to be a comedy.

The Sailor's Log was scheduled to come out 18 times in the school year of 1964-65. This year the paper contained more pictures than last year and a supplement came out with each issue. Also, the first six page Sailor's Log appeared this year. Work on the paper was made easier by the acquisition of two new IBM electric typewriters, thanks to the Student Council.

Council Activities Widely Varied

Mona Shores Student Council has accomplished a number of things in activity this year. Among them are the purchase of two new IBM electric typewriters for the school's journalism activities and getting MS represented on WZZM'S Dick McKay Show.

Jim Fisher, president of Student Council, also was elected president of regions nine and thirteen, an organization including schools from all of Western Michigan. Carol Jensen, chairman of the student affairs committee, was chosen to serve as president of Inter-School, a local organization to help serve area high schools and student councils. Mona Shores was also represented at division IV conference that was held at Grand Valley State College.

In September the Student Council held two dances to provide funds to help serve other organizations. The executive board, composed of all officers and committee chairmen, voted to have three assemblies this year that the council will sponsor.

At the beginning of the year the council held a workshop for newly-elected members so that they could learn how to become better representatives. The council also supported excursions sponsored by the Booster Club. It also loaned National Forensics League $100 to be paid back in the spring.

A project that was begun this year is the Inter Club Council. Its purpose is to improve club relations between the advisors and officers.

One of the most active committees this year has been student affairs. They have taken many student surveys and also surveys of clubs.

The finance committee worked on money-making project for clubs. It has also set up many rules for club concerning finance.

Also, the council has bought a record each week for use during the lunch hour and also for school dances.

The MS Student Council has also purchased flowers for varsity basketball players and cheerleaders for the tournament with Grandville.

Chairmen Barbara Baily, Greg Posuistak, and Judy Johnson headed the "Ugly Man" contest with the aid of the senior class advisers Mr. Roger Tharp, Mr. Edward Wilson and Mrs. Catherine Pierre. It turned out to be a big success which netted $400 for the Senior Class Project. The voters at M.S. brought Bob Lytle to the throne as the biggest money getter; runner-up was Tom Essenburg. All these fellows and many other people are making it possible for the Senior Class to purchase the outdoor current events board for the front of the school. It is in tribute of the first graduating class at Mona Shores High School.

School of Great Talent

Mona Shores annual talent show featured everything from kick lines to hula dancers, plus original commercials. (Below) Linda Deater is being presented with her first prize being awarded by technical director Buster Weatherly.

SPORTS

Football fortunes followed an up and down pattern this fall as the Sailors could not get a win string started. Hampered by the old enemy injury, MS began and finished the season in defeat, while its four victories were alternated between three other defeats throughout the season.

On the brighter side was the fact that three Sailors were selected to the All City Team. Two of these being underclassmen, points to a brighter grid future for Mona Shores.

For co-captain Duane Pitts and head coach Anderson pregame planning was often changed as new game situations developed.

The Benton Harbor Game Was a Frustrating Finish to a Frustrating Season

The first half was a series of short gains by both teams. (left) Chuck Allard slips by Harbor defenders for five yards. But with seconds remaining in the 2nd period a Tiger speedster intercepted a Sailor pass and raced 60 yards for six points.

The third quarter saw a 70 yard TD drive by MS to knot the score at 7-7. (right) Larre Brouhard scoots around an unprotected Harbor end. Then the Tigers powered to a second score and a 14-7 lead.

All seemed lost until with 45 seconds left Dan Page gathered in an Allard aerial to raise MS to within one point of a tie. But the PAT was missed and...

...with 7 seconds left the Benton Harbor scoreboard spelled out the heartbreaking fact that a supreme Sailor effort wasn't quite enough.

Golfers Place 8th

The 1964 golf season at Mona Shores was quite successful. The golfers finished a 16-game season with 12 wins and 4 losses. Their biggest victory was over Whitehall, which had lost only three matches until they lost to MS in their 118th start. The MS team also placed eighth out of 18 teams in the Class A regional tournament in Grand Rapids.

The team average of 332 is seven strokes better than the 1963 record of 339. That record was broken 10 times last spring, and they finally ended the season with a 316 new team record.

Ed Johnson had the season's low average of 77, and he also broke last year's individual scoring record several times and established a great 69, three under par, as the new individual record. Dave Buck and Jim Wank also broke last year's individual mark of 79. Dave Buck was the team's most consistent scorer. Sharing honors for consistency are Jim Wank and Buster Weatherly. Jim's total season effort ranged from 89 to 78; Buster's from 93 to 80.

Maintenance man, Mr. Pete Shelkey, performs one of the many tasks done by the custodians and maintenance.

Nine Custodians clean 34,320 square feet of hallway plus English, science, social science, mathematics, fine arts, language, industrial arts, business studies, home economics, and physical education rooms daily. They do this by working on three shifts: 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. and 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. Their other main duties include watching over various student functions, protecting school property, and helping the teachers whenever needed. This is done mainly out of courtesy and is not a duty.

Keeping the kitchen sanitary in order to prepare the cleanest meals possible is one of the cooks' main duties.

Picture not available for Mrs. Minnie Smith.

The main job of the 14 cooks is to plan and prepare meals for the hundreds of students buying lunch at Mona Shores. A menu typed up and mimeographed for the month makes it easier for students to find out whether they will buy their lunch.

Pictured above is Sealed Power's new electronic computer. This new installation uses a memory disc that can retain millions of characters of information, data for inventory, production control, prices, wage rates, customer discounts and employee records. All of this information is easily accessible in millionths of a second.

This installation is accurate and saves work. Sealed Power is continually improving its facilities through the introduction of labor-saving equipment like this. It is only through this process of improvement that Sealed Power has managed to succeed and furnish more and more jobs. Yes, there are job challenges at Sealed Power; however, it takes more training and education than ever before to qualify.

We encourage each of you to take advantage of your training opportunities. In this regard, we congratulate the Class of 1965 in reaching a milestone in that continuing life-time process of education.
